OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE TOWNSHIP.

S. M. HULIN, Editor and Proprietor.
Local correspondence is respectfully solicited. Writers should give their names, as an evidence of authenticity. Contributions, to insure publication, must be sent in as early as Tuesday afternoon.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., MAY 1, 1873.

Exceedingly Modest.

We find in the last Saturday Gazette the following:
Another school meeting was held last Monday evening at the Central school. The public having been fully apprised of it and of its great importance, through the Editorial columns of the Gazette, (no notice having been furnished for publication by the Clerk) a large attendance was had.

The BLOOMFIELD RECORD received and duly published the notice aforesaid, as is well known, thus insuring its wide publication, throughout the length and breadth of the township. We have good reason to believe the School Trustees recognized the RECORD as the official paper of the town.

The object of inserting a notice or advertisement in a newspaper is that the people who read the paper may see it. It transpired in the discussions at a former school meeting, that a gentleman saw a notice of the meeting in the RECORD but failed to find it in the Gazette, although it was in it, but so badly printed and inconspicuous that he did not find it. We thought at the time, we could easily make a point of this, in our report of that meeting, but abstained from doing so at that time.

We allude to it now, as our neighbor so modestly takes to himself the entire credit of furnishing the last school meeting with attendants. We have striven hard to give the people of Bloomfield a prompt and reliable newspaper, and are glad to see that our efforts are appreciated and our paper recognized as the paper of the town. We claim for the BLOOMFIELD RECORD what we place at the head of its Editorial column—have claimed it from the start but never considered it necessary to display it in black type until we saw the late issue of the Gazette.

As to what follows in our neighbor's article on the "Bloomfield School Meeting" we shall not comment upon it, for the simple reason that comment is unnecessary. The RECORD last week published a report of that meeting, and the Gazette has given its version or rather perversion, thereof.

Heavy Defalcation.

The financial sensation of the week is the defalcation of F. L. Taintor, Cashier of the Atlantic National Bank of New York City, to the tune of $400,000. He was arrested on Saturday, having confessed his guilt. He states that when he entered the Atlantic Bank, finding that it was weak, he undertook to make it strong and reputable by successful ventures on the Stock Exchange. Unfortunately the ventures were not successful, and he had gone on from bad to worse for a period of five years, until in February he had lost an immense sum by the decline in Pacific Mail and other stocks, making a probable total of $400,000, or $10,000 more than the capital of the bank. The bank was kept open till 3 p. m. as usual on Saturday, but was subsequently thrown into bankruptcy and taken possession of by the United States Bank Examiners.

The Evening Mail comments upon this case: "As for the punishment of Taintor, let us get what he deserves? Unless he does, let us have a jail delivery at once, and let out hundreds of poor wretches who have stolen a pittance to save them from starvation, who have never betrayed trusts, and who have inflicted but slight damage upon the interests of society. This business of defalcating has culminated in Taintor's case. He stands for all there is bad in it, and the degree of his punishment will measure the efficiency of our system of law to protect society from one of its worst classes of foes—the men who betray and ruin their employers and benefactors."

The Presbytery of Monmouth at a late session had quite an animated discussion over the offense of the First Church at Freehold in decorating their edifice with vain and gaudy flowers. It appears that they were used on the occasion of the dedication of the church, and the principal offense consisted in their being allowed to remain over Easter Sunday. The Presbytery entered their "decided protest" against the "practice of thus honoring times and seasons as holy which our Lord has not commanded to be observed," but "that in regard to the practice of placing flowers for decoration in our churches the Presbytery does not think it right to express any opinion." The Trenton Gazette suggests that as Easter Sunday is the day when the ladies appear with their new spring bonnets, gaily decorated with beautiful flowers, the Monmouth Presbytery might enter their "decided protest" against this practice as well.

The New York Legislature recently passed a bill providing for the establishment of a Nautical School in New York City. This school is to be under the control and management of the Board of Education and will be supported from the educational fund. The pupils, in addition to the ordinary course of public school instruction, are to be sent on short cruises in or from the harbor of New York, for the purpose of obtaining a practical knowledge of navigation and the duties of mariners.

The East River Bridge.

The Brooklyn tower of the East River Bridge is reaching such an altitude as to completely throw in the shade the buildings in the neighborhood which once loomed over surrounding structures. The contract has just been given for supplying the stone for the tower above what is known as the "springing line" of the arch, to reach which some fifty feet of masonry, previously under contract, will have to be completed. This fresh contract is for 6,800 cubic yards of stone. Seventy thousand tons of masonry will be used in the towers, and 30,000 tons of masonry, 4,200,000 feet of timber, and 380 tons of iron in sheathing and bolts, in the caissons, forming a total weight of 113,000 tons in the entire structure.

The Brooklyn tower is now 150 feet above highwater mark, and the work is going on upon the three towers which rise from the main body, on a level with the roadway of the bridge. Each of these towers is now 40 feet in height; both are being added to at the rate of about four feet a week. The outer upper towers become narrower as they approach completion; they are 48 by 24 feet at the base. A great saving of material is effected by this graduation. The centre tower is 48 by 151 at the base. There are thirty men employed on the Brooklyn tower. This may seem a somewhat limited force, but nearly all the work is done by steam. Excavations for the anchorage tower have been commenced near the old market, in James street, above Front street, and will be 25 feet deep, 119 long, and 119 wide. It is calculated that all the working expenses of the excavation will be paid by the sand which is taken out. It is thought that 12,000 cubic yards will be taken from the excavation, and as it is worth $1.25 per yard, about $15,000 will be realized. The soil, so far, has been wholly sand, thus making labor easy. Steam is employed in dumping the sand. The height of the anchorage will be 89 feet above the level of the river. Upon the completion of the tower, it will be placed 33,000 yards of masonry. Work will probably be commenced on the stonework in June.

One of the four iron plates for the chains of the anchorage will soon be placed in position near the base of the masonry in James Street. It is twenty-three tons in weight, and has sixteen radial arms with a solid central portion, through the eighteen openings in which the links pass. The links weigh about a ton apiece, and are held in the anchor plate by two iron pins.

On the New York tower, a progress of two feet in three days is being made by the fifty men employed, and it is now over sixty feet high. It is hoped that it will be raised to the height of the roadway (119 feet) by the end of the season.

It is expected that the excavation for the New York anchorage tower will be commenced late in the Fall, just West of Water street, and north of Dover street. The property has not yet been purchased, but it is understood that the preliminary steps are being taken. The excavation is to be 25 feet deep, and the walls are to be of Chatham street, ascending to the height of the tower by an easy grade.

The view from the Brooklyn tower is very extensive and beautiful. The panorama looks up the steps built up one side of the structure is well repaid by the panorama which stretches beneath. The clustering spires of Brooklyn, the ship-bound shores of New York, the multitudinous buildings from the East to the Hudson River, and from the Battery to the City of New York, may be viewed in miniature, and the vista of the Bay stretches out clear to the Narrows. At this season the breezes are fraught with touching suggestiveness of Winter, but in Summer, the summit of the tower will be a place where the heat is very little felt. At that elevation a breeze is almost constantly blowing. The completion of the bridge may be expected within six years, and in reply to questions concerning the cable, the Engineer states that it will be four years before it will be commenced. The disbursements up to March 7, were $3,500,000, exclusive of contracts made and not performed.—Commercial Advertiser.

EDITOR BLOOMFIELD RECORD:—My attention was called to an article published by the editor of the so-called Saturday Gazette, upon the change made at the depot in Bloomfield and commenting upon me, stating that the people would no doubt be glad of such a change. I wish, through the columns of your newspaper, which seems to be devoted truly to the side of right and justice, to refute the uncalculated article in question and lay before the public the true feeling of the people in regard to me. I have been spoken to by many of the prominent citizens of Bloomfield in regard to their getting up a petition for my reinstatement to my former office, which honor I most respectfully declined, having been engaged by the Western Union Telegraph Co. I was assured that I could obtain the signatures of 90 per cent of the people of Bloomfield in my favor, which assurance was very gratifying. Considering the principle upon which the Gazette was published, and the professed religious views of its editor, it is surprising that an unkind sentiment of the nature of the article alluded to, should appear in its columns. I think there are subjects more worthy the consideration of an editor, and causes more necessary to be agitated, than the attempt to injure a young man. I have been assured however, of the kind feeling of the people toward me, and the article in question will work to the injury of its calumniators and to my personal good.

By inserting this refutation in your valuable local paper, you will confer a favor and satisfy a desire, not only of myself, but several prominent citizens of the town.

Bloomfield Harmonic Society.

Through the courtesy of its members we were invited to be present at the opening convention of this young but promising society, which took place on Monday evening. Hon. J. F. Sanxay, of Belleville Avenue, kindly threw open his residence for the occasion, and with his proverbial geniality, ably seconded by his charming family, was unremitting in his attention to the comfort of the audience, enlivening the interludes and pauses between the exercises by his accustomed and ever timely witticisms. The programme comprised a well arranged variety of instrumental and vocal music. There were also introduced, as a specialty, some choice poetical readings.

The programme opened with an organ voluntary of Stanton's, by Mr. Chas. Van DerWerken, which was followed by a brilliant piano duet, executed by Misses Aggie Sanxay and Anna Snedeker. Next came a Solo by Mr. John Chambers. This was "Captain Jenks," who appeared in regimental dress. The song was well sung, and the soldierly bearing of the actor elicited much applause.

Dr. J. B. Pitt contributed a flute solo from Verdi, in Il Trovatore, also a violin solo—the "Volkslied." Both pieces were well executed.

Next on the programme was a reading by Miss Anna Sanxay, the "Legend of Bergen." This was given with marked ability and pleasing effect. The audience were enchanted throughout by the artistic interpretation of her subject by this gifted young lady. She was enthusiastically encouraged, and then read, most touchingly, the "Irish Woman's Letter." There was a depth of pathos in this reading that went directly to the hearts of the audience.

A bass solo, called "The Sexton," was given by Mr. Nelson Hayes, who sang excellently well.

A brilliant trio from "Martha" was executed on the piano by Miss Aggie Sanxay and Messrs Van DerWerken and Chambers.

Next came the delightful reading, "Archibald Dean." Abounding in emotive impulse and of bewitching personae, Miss Beardsley made a capital rendition of this chaste love poem, and captivated her listeners, especially a certain impressive young man who shall be nameless.

The piano solo entitled "Memory" was exquisitely rendered by Miss Anna Snedeker.

"Kaiser's Dog," by Mr. E. Van DerWerken, who appeared in Tuetonic costume, was a happy hit, full of jovial good humor.

The programme concluded with a burlesque quartette, by Messrs Chambers, Kennedy, Hayes and Jarvis, who appeared in negro costume: "Parson Sambo," "Deacon Cuffy," "Elder Caesar" and "Sexton."

The audience comprised mainly the personal friends of the members of the society, residing in Bloomfield, and a few from outside the village. Among these were Miss Rice, from Brooklyn, who is a fine pianist, and by request favored the Society and audience with one or two of her happiest performances.

Of home notables there were not a few present, known in politics, music and literature. A brief but very pleasant interval succeeding the last portion of the programme, was spent in informal and extemporaneous speech-making, the ball having been set in motion by the jovial Dr. Kennedy of Westminster Church. The last speaker was Mr. J. H. Chambers, who held the attention of the audience until an adjournment to the dining hall was declared to be in order, whither everybody repaired to take each an active part in a certain performance not mentioned on the programme. Ample justice was here done to the choice viands provided for the occasion.

Taken all in all, the Harmonic was conceded to be a grand success. At a reasonable hour guests and performers separated for their homes, well pleased with their rational and very pleasant evening's entertainment.

The case of Olive Branch Lodge vs. Samuel H. Baxter was argued before Judge Deane on Saturday. The plaintiffs occupied as a lodge room a portion of Baxter's building upon Bloomfield avenue, and had a lease thereon for several years. The front of the building was taken by the Essex Road Board for widening Bloomfield avenue, and damages to the amount of $9,000 were awarded to the owner of the building, but none to the Lodge as tenant. The defendant took possession of the building and destroyed the lodge room. The plaintiffs thereupon sued the defendant in an action of trespass, and the latter pleaded the Road Board proceedings, to which the plaintiffs demurred, on the ground that no award of compensation had been made to them; and that they owned a leasehold interest, and insisted that the tenants were owners of an estate and could not be deprived of without compensation for such interest under the constitution. The decision of Judge Deane in this case has not yet been given.

Messrs. W. S. Morris & Son, of Montclair, have recently introduced a dumb waiter, and one of the Empire Gas machines for lighting their establishment with gas, their large and constantly increasing business demanding these improvements.

NEW MEAT MARKET.—O. H. Heckel, from Centre Market, Newark, N. J., will on Saturday next open a first-class Market at his new building on Bloomfield avenue, a few doors above E. Wilde's store.

TEMPERANCE.—The annual meeting of the Temperance Society connected with the Bloomfield Presbyterian Church was held on Monday evening in the Lecture Room. The principal business transacted was the election of officers for the ensuing year, and the following named gentlemen were chosen: President, Dr. D. B. Cox; Vice Presidents, Hon. Amzi Dodd, Jacob F. Randolph, Secretary and Treasurer, James P. Jones; Executive Committee, E. W. Page, Wm. P. Lyon, Thomas McGowan, C. Pelonbet, H. A. Ventres. Member, ex-officio, Rev. Chas. E. Knox.

The following resolutions were adopted: Resolved, That we heartily approve the action of our pastor in preaching to his people on the subject of temperance, and commend the views so felicitously and forcibly presented in his sermon last Sabbath morning, anticipating with much interest the supplementary discourse on the same subject promised on next Sabbath.

Also, Resolved, That the increase of intoxicating drinks, and consequent intemperance in our community, demands persistent and energetic efforts to arrest this great evil, and remove from us as far as possible, incentives to it, and that the Executive Committee of this society should at once enter upon an active campaign, in consonance with these views.

REAL ESTATE AND IMPROVEMENTS.—Notwithstanding the prevalent stringency in money matters and consequent dullness of business, improvements do not seem to flag in Bloomfield.

Honore Pierson reports the sale of a fine lot on Washington avenue, Phoenix J. Ward property, 178 by 200, for $3,800. Purchaser, Frederick Langstroth.

Mr. Pierson has on his books eight or ten first class houses to rent, most eligibly located and reasonable in price.

Our enterprising townsman Robert Peck has commenced the erection of another new house on Midland avenue.

WEST END REAL ESTATE.—We understand that Mr. J. Banks Reford, County Clerk, has purchased Mr. Frederick Crane's fine dwelling on Midland avenue. The sale was effected through Mr. Honore Pierson's well known agency, the consideration being $12,000.

We have been requested to contradict the statement which appeared in a Newark evening paper of Monday in regard to a kerosene accident at the residence of Mr. Jason Crane in this place. There was no truth whatever in the statement referred to.

Rev. O. E. Knox preached part of an able and pungent discourse on Temperance last Sunday morning. It will be concluded next Sabbath.

NORTH BLOOMFIELD.—Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morris left Bloomfield on Monday for their distant home in Anoka, Minnesota.

Neat and substantial fences are being erected on the new streets recently opened upon the Morris and Thomas properties.

On Prospect Hill, is finished and he will occupy the same next week. We hope his locating there will be the means of attracting others to build in that vicinity, which for scenery is unsurpassed in Bloomfield.

Mr. A. T. Morris is erecting a small dwelling upon the Peterson road.

Mr. H. Lindemeyer has a large force at work improving and beautifying the hillside in front of his new residence.

A Fine Musical Entertainment is to be given May 14th at the residence of Mr. A. T. Morris, for the benefit of Hope Chapel.

The painting of Mr. J. C. Morris's house adds much to the value of his property.

Mr. Potter, town committee-man, is erecting a new barn.

A young Bloomfield wife was recently the unintentional cause of alienation between herself and husband. She commendably mended his socks but carelessly left the needle inserted in the heel of one of them. Last Sunday morning there was a "little unpleasantness" and some more damning, when Charles Henry came to dress for church. Peace was eventually declared, but that young man next day brought home a whole box of foot-wear. "Darned" stockings are tabooed in his household, for some time to come.

John Raabach says that if you want to raise early cabbage it is essential that the ground be thoroughly enriched and the plants obtained at his nursery. John is doing a flourishing business, just now, in flowers, shrubbery and plants.

The delightfully situated grounds of the Bloomfield Cemetery, adjoining the Montclair Railway, are being artistically laid out and beautified.
